$3,426 Reported at First Meeting of Boy Scout Workers

Kingston Team Workers Hold First Meeting to Receive Report of Subscriptions—County Judge Fowler Gives Reasons Why People Should Support the Organization.

The first report meeting for the Boy Scouts Campaign was held at Von Berg's restaurant Wednesday evening. A total of $3,426 was reported. The standing of the teams is as follows: Team No. 1, Dr. A. C. Gates, $177; Team No. 2, Captain James A. Dwyer, $162; Team No. 3, Captain H. R. St. John, $49; Team No. 4, Captain Frank Flanagan, $483; Team No. 5, Captain S. J. Messinger, $50; Team No. 6, Captain Arthur J. Burns, $800; Executive Committee, $1,705.

Chairman Charles Ramsey has received a letter of endorsement for the campaign to raise $16,000 for the Boy Scout budget for the next two years from Judge Joseph M. Fowler of the County Children's Court.

Judge Fowler's letter was as follows:

October 27, 1926.

Mr. Charles Ramsey, Chairman Boy Scouts Campaign Committee, Dear Mr. Ramsey:

I have your note asking me to serve on your committee and I will be very glad to do anything I can for a good cause.

I have been a Boy Scout since I was a boy and I have seen the good that has come out of it.

My work in the juvenile court, and with boys, has shown me two things.

First: Boys are by nature essentially gregarious, they have a natural tendency to flock together, to have their gangs. There are bad gangs but there are also good gangs, but the good ones must be led.

The boy who goes from his home to school or to work and returns directly from school or work to his home and stays there will probably keep out of trouble, but he will be lonely.

Second: Boys, as a rule, do not get into trouble because they are at heart bad or because they intend so to do but because they have not mature judgment and do not weigh consequences, but think only of the moment.

The answer therefore, is obvious: A parent should either make himself one of the gang with which his boy travels, or he should see to it that the gang with which his boy travels is steered along lines of lawful and decent activities.

Not many parents are able to do the former but all can do the latter by standing for Boy Scout organizations.

To the man who is not a parent of a boy or a boy of Scout age, I would say that such is a misfortune which does not lessen your responsibility but on the contrary your duty to the community is by that fact the greater and this duty can only be met by helping to make good citizens of other men's boys.

Finally: It may be of interest to know that out of the scores of boys who have been in my court during the past years only two have been Scouts and those two not for serious offenses and neither came back.

Please count on my help I can give you in the campaign.

Cordially yours,

JOSEPH M. FOWLER.

Another report meeting at which all the workers are expected will be held at Von Berg's this evening and tomorrow evening at 6 o'clock. An effort is being made to complete the canvass this week.

Mrs. Mills's Body Taken from Grave

Somerville, N. J., Oct. 28 (AP).—The body of Mrs. Eleanor Mills, exhumed to determine if her tongue was cut out after she and the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall were slain four years ago, has been removed from the grave in Van Lew cemetery near New Brunswick.

Lieutenant Walter Ciesch today informed reporters that the body was taken to the home of the sexton, at 11 o'clock last night.

Ciesch referred to the home of Alfred Yerman, superintendent of the cemetery. Police guarded the house and kept people at a distance.

NAVY RECRUITING OFFICER WILL SUPPLY INFORMATION

There is a representative of the United States navy at the Central Post Office, Broadway, this city and anyone wishing to enlist with that branch of government service will receive valuable information by calling to see the recruiting officer and talking with him. He will fully explain the benefits that young men derive from service in the navy and will tell of the various trades and professions it is possible to learn while in the service.

Church Social and Dance.

There will be a social and ballroom dance at the Union Baptist Church on Saturday evening, October 29, which will start at 7:30 o'clock.

Democrats Hold Mass Meeting

Former Lieutenant Governor George R. Lunn, now a member of the public service commission, and Judge Joseph V. McKee, president of the board of aldermen of New York city, were the principal speakers Wednesday evening at a Democratic mass meeting held in the Auditorium Theatre on Pine Grove avenue. Several of the local candidates also spoke briefly.

Mr. Lunn spoke of the record of Governor Smith and urged that he be retained in office so as to carry on his program. Mr. Lunn did not believe in the "pay as you go plan," and said it never had been done, is not being done now and never would be done.

Jerome Farrell, Democratic candidate for state senator, stated he had always been a consistent Democrat and had served in his home county, Delaware, as sheriff. Mr. Farrell said he had been asked to accept the nomination and that he had done so. If elected he promised to see to it that the people in his district received all the recognition it would be possible to get.

Judge Harry E. Schrick, who presided, introduced Judge John G. Van Etten, but the judge did not address the meeting.

Captain William R. Kraft, Democratic candidate for assemblyman, outlined his position on state questions. William A. Kaercher, candidate for surrogate, was introduced and spoke briefly.

The last speaker of the evening was Judge McKee, who devoted the time allowed him to discussing the milk question in New York city and said that it was being made a false issue by the Republicans. Judge McKee was the most eloquent speaker of the evening and held the close attention of his audience.

Postal Clerk Shot By Four Gunmen

Paxton, Ill., Oct. 28 (AP).—Four gunmen today shot and probably fatally injured Harry Swanson, night postal clerk, after blaming their victim for the conviction of three men involved in a recent postal robbery here.

Swanson, who was on lone duty, said that the quartet apparently had no intention of shooting up the office when they came in, although they covered him with revolvers and shortly afterward began firing.

Bandits who obtained $500,000 in gems from three diamond salarman were captured near here in September.

Swanson was the one witness to the first attack on the post office and the three men he identified were sentenced to prison.

Bullets Riddled Weinstein's Car

Police Found It Abandoned on Path Leading to Glory Hole Off Delaware Avenue—Reported Stolen Wednesday Night.

Who fired six bullets through the windows of Herman Weinstein's Hudson sedan? That is a question the police are seeking to solve. The car was found abandoned this morning on the path leading to the old Glory Hole, off Delaware avenue.

Bullets had crashed through all of the windows of the sedan when it was found.

Later in the morning Mr. Weinstein called up police headquarters and stated that his car had been stolen some time during the night from in front of his home, No. 136 Newkirk avenue.

Speakers Oppose Sunday Movies

City Clergyman and Others Address Meeting Held Under Auspices of Federation of Men's Clubs of City Churches—One Question at a Time, Advises Flemming.

Harry H. Flemming, president of the board of education, was the principal speaker at the mass meeting held in the First Presbyterian Church on Wednesday evening under the auspices of the Federation of Men's Clubs of the churches of Kingston, which is carrying on an active campaign in opposition to Sunday movies in the city.

The church was filled when the meeting was called to order by Dr. E. H. Loughbraugh, who presided. Others who spoke briefly in opposition to Sunday movies were Mrs. T. D. Lewis of Wiltsyck Chapter, D. A. R.; the Rev. Dr. J. Wilbur Teley of the St. James M. E. Church, Charles Ramsey, president of the board of directors of the Y. M. C. A.; Principal Van Lagen of the Kingston High School, Secretary John Porter of the Y. M. C. A.; the Rev. F. W. Moot of the Ponckhockie Congregational Church, the Rev. Dr. Frank B. Seeley of the Fair Street Reformed Church, H. B. Wesley and several others.

Mr. Flemming said in part:

I assume it is safe to say that a very large percentage of the audience is opposed to Sunday moving pictures. Some have arrived at the opinion that they hold from one source of reasoning and some from another.

In discussing the question I have heard it said that six days a week are sufficient for amusements of this class. That the employers of the theatre are entitled to some consideration and again that Sunday moving pictures are one step more and a very decided step toward the breaking down of our American Sabbath.

Personally I prefer to base my objection upon the position last taken. The advocates of Sunday movies tell us we are living in a new day and we admit that such is the fact. But our interpretation of that new day is vastly different. The one class tell us the young people of today demand Sunday amusements and why not the moving picture?

The other and by far the more thoughtful are students of history and recall the fact that the forefathers were firmly convinced that a proper observance of the Sabbath Day was essential insofar as the best interests of the individual was concerned and the American Sabbath has become an established institution in the life of our nation.

We admit the times have changed. As a nation we have become the leader in material gain and the most influential in leadership among the nations of the world. Only recently I heard United States Senator Fessenden of Ohio say that our gain in wealth since the close of the Civil War represented a sum sufficient to run the governments of the world for a period of forty years prior to the war.

Why talk of wealth in connection with Sunday moving pictures? To demonstrate the fact that the needs of the citizenship of other days were no greater or as great as today? Great wealth and power carry corresponding responsibility. What are we going to prepare the youth of today for the leadership of tomorrow? In the Sunday moving picture theatre or in the home and the church?

The drift from the church and the home life and its influences has reached a point that calls upon all good citizens to stop and consider the time has arrived to say to those who would invade the Sabbath Day with commercialized amusement for selfish purpose thus far and no farther.

The argument of the opposition reciting baseball, golf and Sunday automobile having no place here. The question at issue in Sunday moving pictures and all else is irrelevant to the issue. All other questions can be discussed and solved at another time and place.

Newspaper advertising is essential and has accomplished much good but it must be supplemented by personal work and succeeds in politics, in business, in religion and for it there is no substitute.

If you are opposed to moving pictures, say so, say it without apology, say it with a forceful way that cannot be mistaken, let your influence count for the home life and church life, the two outstanding constructive and best loved of institutions of this or any other day in our natural life.

Tin Box Swindle Cost Whiteport Man $2,500

Peter Brown Latest Victim of Ancient Swindle—Placed Ideal Money in Box and Found It Missing When Box Was Left in His Care.

Peter Brown of Whiteport is the latest victim to fall for the old swindle known as "switching the roll," and as a result he paid a hurried visit to police headquarters shortly before noon today and informed Chief of Police Wood that he had been robbed of $2,500. The chief took a brief description of the three swindlers and sent out a general alarm and then had Mr. Brown taken to the court house where he related how he was swindled, and the sheriff's office sent out a general alarm.

Mr. Brown was so excited that he was rather incoherent, but the facts as nearly as could be learned were these: Two men had been negotiating for several days to purchase his place at Whiteport, and this morning they drove up in a bluish automobile, probably a sport roadster, and alighting from the car entered into a conversation with Mr. Brown regarding the sale of the place with Mr. Brown.

While the three men were dicker over the price, a third man walked in and began to tell a hard story of how he was in need of cash to reach the bedside of his dying wife. Finally the other two men turned to Brown and said that they would duplicate the amount of money he would put up.

Mr. Brown was driven into Kingston and drew out $2,500 from the Ulster County Savings Institution, where he did his banking. The two strangers furnished a tin box, and told Mr. Brown to place the money in it and that they would place an equal amount in the box also.

The $2,500 was "placed in the box" by the strangers, who also put in an "equal amount," and then turning to Mr. Brown asked him to retain the box until they returned from lunch. They then left. Later Mr. Brown peeked into the box and found three rolls of "money." Unfortunately it was phony money wrapped around with a genuine dollar bill.

Franklin Mr. Brown emptied the contents of the box searching for the money he had placed in it, but it was missing. Realizing that he had been robbed, he started to walk into Kingston and was met on the road by a man passing in an auto who picked him up and hurried him to police headquarters.

The three men are described by Brown, one being of medium size with a big, full face and quite young; the second was tall and wore a gray overcoat, while the third was a young man of dark complexion.

Work Planned Here.

It was planned, as part of the work of the organization during the year, to invite the Jewish women of the city to organize a branch of the Hadassah Zionist Women's Medical Organization, which was founded several years ago by Henrietta Szold of Baltimore, and which now is in charge of the entire medical hospital work of the Holy Land, ministering to Jews and Arabs alike.

Meanwhile, a meeting will take place next month at the home of Miss Florence Schuster, at which an organizer of the Junior Hadassah will enlist the interest of the girls in a special program in Palestine.

FAIR AND TURKEY SUPPER AT FAIR STREET CHURCH

The following night a chicken salad supper will be served from five to eight o'clock. Menu: Bouillion, chicken salad, salmon croquettes, scalloped potatoes, rolls, jelly, cake, tea and coffee.

CURRENT OFFERINGS AT THE THEATRE

Harold Lloyd in "For Heaven's Sake" and Greta Nissen in "The Lucky Lady" will be screened at Reade's Kingston Theatre this evening.

The Orpheum will offer a program consisting of "The Luck Devil," starring Richard Dix, and "No Man's Law" with Bob Custer.

At the Auditorium this evening "Sabary Sadie" will be the feature attraction.

Wise Trial Opened.

Monticello, N. Y., Oct. 28 (AP).—With the exception of a short plea for sympathy, the defense for Charles Wise, alleged murderer of Miss Nina Wilson, was content to sit tight throughout this morning at the opening of the case before County Judge George H. Smith in the county court house here.

Delta Alpha Society.

A regular meeting of the Delta Alpha Society will be held at the home of Miss Evelyn Marshall, 135 Franklin street, on Friday evening, October 29. The annual banquet and costume social will be held at the same time. All members are requested to be present, as a good time is assured.

Grandmother Dies While Star Sings

Meriden, Conn., Oct. 28 (AP).—While Carmela Ponzelle, Metropolitan opera star, kept a concert engagement before the Meriden Women's Club last night, her grandmother, Mrs. Martelli Comie, 82, died.

Mrs. Ponzelle had recently left the bedside of the dying woman to sing for the "home folks" whom she did not want to disappoint. The concert over, she hurried home to find that her grandmother had passed away.

Sumner R. S. MANS OUT MAIN HEARINGS

Washington, Oct. 28 (AP).—The new Peruvian submarine R-2 on her maiden voyage to Callao, Dec. 15, sailed out of Cape Henlopen, Del., with her main engine burned out, and her sister ship, the R-1 has returned to the New London, Conn., submarine base to receive repairs.

Zionist District Formed Here

Officers Chosen at Preliminary Meeting Wednesday Night at The Governor Clinton Hotel—Mass Meeting At Jewish Community Center on November 14.

The Kingston Branch of the Zionist Organization of America will be launched during the coming month as the result of a preliminary meeting held Wednesday night in the Governor Clinton Hotel.

A mass meeting will be held in the Jewish Community Center on November 14, addressed by a nationally known Zionist leader. The meeting will be followed by a membership campaign and a program of activities throughout the year.

Leon Golson was elected chairman of the organization, which will be known as the Zionist District of Kingston. Mayor Block, Arthur B. Erwig, Morris Kaplan, Charles Katz and Henry Klein were elected vice-chairmen and Miss Alta Jerusalem accepted the office of secretary.

Purpose of Organization.

"The Zionist Organization, whose work is the development of interest in the rebuilding of Palestine and the renaissance of Hebrew culture, is the largest Jewish organization in the world, numbering over 1,000,000 dues paying members at the present time, with branches in every country," said a representative of the national administration who was present at Wednesday night's meeting.

The leading Jews of the world have during the past century headed the Zionist organization. In America, such men as Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, Justice Louis D. Brandeis and Judge Julius Mack, who just presided at the annual trial, have at one time or another filled the office of president of the Zionist organization.

In Europe the most noted Jews have stood at the head of the movement, including Israel Zangwill, whose recent death was a new mourning.

Prof. Albert Einstein of relativity fame, Prof. Sigmund Freud of Vienna, founder of psychoanalysis, and Prof. Henri Bergson, the principal French philosopher, and of the earlier generation, Sir Moses Montefiore, Dr. Max Nordau, Dr. Theodor Herzl and Baron James de Rothschild.

When six years ago the League of Nations opened Palestine to Jewish immigration in order to establish there the homeland of the Jewish people, it was the World Zionist organization, headed by Dr. Weizmann, which was recognized by the principal French philosopher, and of the Jews of the World, and it is significant that the United States Congress immediately passed a joint resolution signifying its agreement with the plan of the proposed Jewish homeland.

Work Planned Here.

It was planned, as part of the work of the organization during the year, to invite the Jewish women of the city to organize a branch of the Hadassah Zionist Women's Medical Organization, which was founded several years ago by Henrietta Szold of Baltimore, and which now is in charge of the entire medical hospital work of the Holy Land, ministering to Jews and Arabs alike.

Service League Speakers Coming

Republican Service League Campaigners to Visit Kingston and Saugerties, Carrying Message of "Service for Service Men."

Dr. Dan Edwards of New York and Willard Stephan of Buffalo, two ex-service men who are touring the state under the auspices of the Republican Service League and campaigning in the interest of the three Republican ex-service men, Ogden L. Mills candidate for Governor, Vincent B. Murphy, candidate for State Comptroller, and Senator Wadsworth, will be in Kingston and Saugerties Friday. These two men left New York city over a week ago and since that time have visited many cities, villages and hamlets in the state where they have carried the message of "Service for Service Men," which is the slogan of the League.

Dan Edwards is a First Division hero of Cantigny and is the only man to be awarded both the Congressional medal and the Distinguished Service medal.

The exact time of their arrival has not been known to Robert G. Groves, chairman of the League in Ulster county. Arrangements will be made to meet the Cadillac car on its arrival in Saugerties and assist in carrying the message of the two men to the service men of the county.

Ogden L. Mills, nominee for governor of New York state, was a major in the Sixth Division in France and was cited for meritorious service in the Argonne.

Vincent B. Murphy, candidate for state comptroller, was a member of the 35th Infantry, 77th Division, and was wounded in service at St. Jovin.

Senator Wadsworth in the Spanish-American war was a member of the Pennsylvania Light Artillery and saw active service in Porto Rico.

Dr. Edwards and his companion are trying to carry the message of these three service men to the thousands of service men in the state and at the same time are working for the election of the entire Republican ticket.

The Republican Service League in New York is under the direction of the State Chairman Albert S. Callan of Chatham and locally Robert G. Groves is the chairman for the county.

If time permits it is expected that there will be several impromptu meetings held in the village of Saugerties as well as in this city Friday.

Electric School On Wheels Here

The traveling electric school operated by Black & Decker, manufacturers of electric drills and tools, attracted an unusual amount of attention this morning while it was holding a session on the Strand. The school is conducted in a large Pierce Arrow bus in which are mounted their various electric drills, screw drivers, presses, grinders, etc. Three instructors travel with the school and the session this morning was for the benefit of the Canfield Electric Supply and some of their customers who had gathered to attend the session. Black & Decker are one of the largest manufacturers of electric drills in the country and believe thoroughly in advertising. The Canfield Electric Supply are their Hudson Valley representatives.

Wadsworth in Orange County.

Middletown, N. Y., Oct. 28 (AP).—Senator James W. Wadsworth, Jr., made a campaign trip into Orange county today to present to the voters of Middletown, Goshen, Alden and Newburgh the national issues. He has been stressing in nearly 100 meetings throughout the state.

Federation Alternates.

Mrs. A. Ray Fowler, president of The Federation of Women's Clubs has appointed Mrs. Robin Steele, Mrs. Graham, Mrs. Frank Thompson and Mrs. Reed as alternates to attend the coming state Federation convention.

Private Lives of Mills and Smith Enter Campaign

Governor Smith Challenges Mills To Comparison of Private Lives—Congressman Mills Says He Intends No Reflection on Smith's Private Life.

New York, Oct. 28 (AP).—The private lives of Governor Alfred E. Smith and his Republican opponent, Ogden L. Mills, are the subject of the latest campaign exchanges between them.

The governor, on the stump last night, read from The Sun, which said Mills departed from a prepared speech to say of Smith:

"There is no truth in that man. He cannot be trusted either in public or private life."

The governor then challenged Mills to comparison of private lives.

"For five solid weeks," he said, "I have been obliged to put great pressure on the men and women in my headquarters to keep them from speaking about the private life of Ogden L. Mills. If he has anything against me either in my public or private life, I defy him to produce it. Either he must produce it or at the earliest possible moment retract that statement."

Found Nothing in Public Life.

The governor said his public life had been the object of the severest scrutiny. "One particular man of vast fortune," he said, had spent a considerable amount investigating him but did not find anything.

Then, referring to his marriage 27 years ago, the governor said that in the presence of God he had promised to care for, honor and protect the woman of his choice, and that if he were ushered before the great white throne he would be prepared to establish that he had kept the promise. Then he shouted: "Let the congressman lay his private life alongside of mine."

Reporter Did Not Detect Deception.

The New York Times says that its reporter who heard the speech of Mr. Mills in question did not detect any departure from his prepared remarks, which it says contained this reference to Smith: "There is no truth in him, and men who cannot tell the truth are not to be trusted in official or in private life."

The Herald-Tribune, which is supporting Mills, quotes the remark as follows: "Men who cannot tell the truth are not to be trusted in official or private life, and there is no truth in Alfred E. Smith."

How Management Decreases Cost

Secretary Coe Gives Rotary Club a Resume of Facts and Figures Showing What Has Been Done by Proper Business Management.

Rotary luncheon this week at the Governor Clinton was well attended, a number of visitors being present, and the program was instructive as well as lively. Half a dozen Kingston Rotarians have accepted the invitation to attend the charter night dinner of the Haverstraw Rotary Club next Thursday evening when it is expected that a good time will be had by all. The eve of All Saints' Day being close at hand, the Governor Clinton helped the Rotarians to celebrate by placing appropriate favors on the table.

The speaker of the day was Secretary Louis S. Coe of the Chamber of Commerce, who discussed topics appropriate to Management Week. Mr. Coe said:

There are weeks set aside to cover everything under the sun. Some of these have some foundation, many of them have not. Management Week was a new one to me when President "Ed" told me that Rotary International had requested that we place it on our program and that it was up to me to tell you about it. From the help placed in my hands with which to prepare this paper, I have learned enough to convince me that Management Week is much worth while in that it brings to our attention the vast saving that is being made in most all branches of industry and merchandising by a careful study and remedying of the conditions under which they operate.

Through useless competition, variety has been piled upon variety, visiting upon distribution much unnecessary expense and confusion of effort.

What Hoover Discovered.

When Herbert Hoover was placed in charge of the Department of Commerce some years ago, he instituted a study of the conditions that prevailed in purchasing the tremendous amount of supplies necessary to carry on the work of the government. It was soon evident that there was much overlapping of time and effort and much waste incurred because of lack of standardization of materials purchased.

Since that time the government has solved this problem for its own purposes, and provides a working model of how to do it, and what is to be gained from it. Each year the government buys some $300,000,000 of products—ranging all the way from thumbtacks to dredging machines; from baseballs to battle ships. Nearly everything the general consumer buys the government buys—though in not such great variety, foodstuffs, textiles, clothing, furniture, building materials, office supplies, etc. In the purchase of this material they now pay attention to instructions from the Bureau of Standards. Half-way between Washington City and Chevy Chase, laboratories and testing rooms of this bureau rise magnificently on guard. Skilled chemists, engineers, research workers in a hundred fields are passing continually and relentlessly upon the relative quality of the goods the purchasing agent proposes to buy. During the last fiscal year the Bureau made no less than 112,000 tests. For an operating cost of $2,000,000 it is estimated that the Bureau of Standards saved the government better than $100,000,000 every year—an investment which nets more than fifty-fold.

This splendid result has attracted much attention from industry all over the country and as a result of this attention the Department of Commerce has been called into many plants to study conditions and to advise in the matter of simplification of processes of manufacturer and distribution.

National Distribution Conference. In January, 1925, the Chamber of Commerce of the United States sponsored the calling of the National Distribution Conference. About 200 business men, representative of agriculture, manufacture, wholesale and retail distributors, were in attendance. The facts brought out at this and later conferences made it evident that the efforts toward waste elimination had as yet merely scratched the surface. Even so there has already been much

A Double Treatment for Colds

It is an obstinate cold indeed that can resist the direct, double action of Vicks VapoRub. When it is rubbed over throat and chest at bedtime, Vicks acts in two ways at once:

- (1) Direct to the inflamed air passages with its medicated vapors, released by the body heat; and
- (2) Direct through the skin like an old-fashioned poultice, "drawing out" the croup, soreness and pain.

Head or chest aches may easily sap your vitality and undermine your health. Don't neglect them.

VICKS VAPORUB

progress made and there are examples without number illustrating that millions of dollars have already been saved by simplification of standards and methods of distribution. The dollars thus saved are saved not alone to the manufacturer and the distributor but react to the advantage of the ultimate consumer.

Charles M. Schwab recently said, "We must keep right on improving." This message was directed to all who have to do with the Elimination of Waste. The adoption of new ideas of economy and efficiency may mean the difference between success and failure. Indeed, it has no doubt averted many a costly failure. Business is changing—new methods come as we grasp new ideas. The newest way should be the best way. Progress is a clearing house where waste disappears. Yet it is an amazing fact that waste and inefficiency still hinder and seriously encumber manufacturing and commercial progress. Some of these hindrances are inherited, others are trade customs, uneconomical and never did serve a good purpose. Some are antiquated methods of production and selling, sometimes the result of inaction, but more often of ignorance.

Study Stimulates New Ideas.

A scientific study of these important factors will stimulate new ideas through the removal of ignorance. Standardized production is one method of avoiding waste says one eminent authority. An eastern factory saves waste by turning out a single style of shoe and another by making and specializing in the manufacture of serge suits. A knitting mill recently found a big leak and corrected it by manufacturing a certain style of men's garments in one factory and a certain style for women in another. A better garment for a lower price, was the answer.

Business management is learning the value of sound economic and scientific knowledge concerning production and distribution. Secretary Hoover through a survey by industrial engineers, found waste for the year 1923 ranging from 23% in the metal trades to 64% in the manufacture of men's clothing. Waste in boot and shoe manufacturing was 49% and textile manufacturing was 49%; in the building industry 53% and in printing, 58%. (The major industries referred to, showed an average waste of 42% or $14,007,702,120.00.)

This would make the total waste factor of American industry, as a whole, in 1923, $27,953,015,160. Of this fifty per cent was due to mismanagement, twenty-five per cent to labor and twenty-five per cent to various causes. To reduce this waste, thirty-one groups of industries throughout the country have adopted simplified practices and have an actual reduction in the variety of their production, for which Management Week stands, ranging from ninety-eight per cent in the brick industry to twenty-two per cent in the tin plate industry.

Management Week Instituted.

This is the reason that Management Week has been instituted by the Division of Simplified Practice of the United States Department of Commerce. The educational value of it is proving to be of pronounced success.

Definite steps are being taken by the Manufacturers' Committee of the Industry Division of the Chamber of Commerce to organize all interested concerns in the country for the observance of Management Week.

The world is realizing that improved manufacturing methods are adding to the pleasure of living. As the contentment and comfort of the masses are increased, the stability of trade and the security of investment are likewise promoted.

Reducing lost motion, cutting out the elements of waste, eliminating too high a degree of diversification of products and doing away with a large number of unnecessary plants that rest like crushing weights on the back of American industry—all of these are steps toward economy and efficiency. Increased profits to the manufacturer, increased wages to labor and lower prices to the consumer.

Eliminate Cumbersome Methods.

Of course, the essence of this effort has been to eliminate elaborate and cumbersome methods of doing business, dispensing with as many parts and as many types of products, as many price ranges and as many unnecessary plants, processes and methods as good sense will permit. In the past four years nearly 1,000 group conferences have been held and during the same period marvelous have been accomplished by particular industries. Here is an illustration of standardization and economy in railroad management: In the nineties, the railroads were using fifty-six different types of axles which, by 1921, had been reduced to six; fifty-eight journal boxes were reduced to six; twenty-six couplers were reduced to one; twenty brake shoes were reduced to one, and twenty-seven brake heads were reduced to one.

A single railroad system made a survey showing 149,000 different items carried in stock, sixty-two thousand items were eliminated, with the result that inventories that amounted to $87,000,000 were reduced to $45,000,000 in a period of twelve months. Another railroad company cut its stores account from $28,000,000 to $10,000,000. Two railroad systems thus released $40,000,000 of capital formerly locked up in idle inventory and slow moving stocks.

Old Store a Business Curse.

Old stores have been one of the great curses of American business and, as a consequence, the old store is disappearing with a bewildering rapidity from American commerce. Hundreds of millions of dollars annually are thus being saved to the American public.

Paving bricks have been simplified from 64 to 4 varieties; asphalt grades from 102 to 69; and forged tools from 665 to 251. The average elimination in seven items in this field of miscellaneous construction materials alone is 90 per cent.

In building materials, the average reduction for seven items is 74 per cent. In about equal variations have been reduced from 1919 to 1921, reducing in savings of $2,400,000 annually.

Savings resulting from the standardization of the soft wood lumber industry is estimated at $850,000, 000 annually. The general discovery in nearly all these industries has been that 60 per cent of the demand was confined to 20 per cent of the varieties of articles manufactured. The consequence is that we are in a position to manufacture more units at less cost. Mass production and mass purchasing are most formidable factors in our modern economics.

Some Important Advantages.

The important role which standardization plays in the industrial evolution, and its economic and social potentialities, are only beginning to be generally understood. Among the many important advantages of standardization are: It simplifies manufacturing processes; it stabilizes production and employment, since it makes it safe for the manufacturer to accumulate stock during periods of slack orders, which he cannot safely do with unstandardized product; it broadens markets both for the producer and for the consumer; it lowers cost to the public by making mass production possible; it enables buyers and sellers to speak the same language, and makes it possible to compel competitive sellers to do likewise; it reduces selling cost; it stimulates research and makes for the elimination of antiquated methods and products; and by concentration on essentials, and the consequent suppression of confusing elements intended merely for sales effect, it helps to base competition squarely upon efficiency in production and distribution and upon merit of product.

NEW HURLEY.

New Hurley, Oct. 28.—Miss Mahila Paltridge of Modena spent the week end with Miss Muriel Hodges.

Mrs. Frank Schoonmaker visited her daughter, Mrs. Roscoe Strivings, in Newburgh last week.

The Circle will meet at the home of John Mackey on Friday evening, October 28. All members are urged to attend as election of officers will take place at this meeting.

A number of people from here attended the installation services of the Rev. Mr. Leggett at Walkkill last Tuesday evening.

An L. T. L. meeting was held at the school house on Friday afternoon of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kidd of Walden called on Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Monell on Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Van Demark of Newburgh spent Sunday afternoon and evening with Mrs. Sutton and daughter.

The installation services of the Rev. A. Van Arendonk as pastor of the New Hurley Church will take place on Thursday evening, November 4, at 7:30 o'clock.

At the meeting of the Young Woman's Club held at the home of Mrs. Charles Everett, last Saturday afternoon, the following officers were elected for the coming year: President, Bertha Sutton; vice-president, Lulu Birch; secretary, Catherine Schoonmaker; treasurer, Beatrice Everett. The following committees were appointed: Calendar committee, Helen Wilkin, Margaret Deniston; committee to plan entertainment for silver tea, Mrs. Arthur Zimmer, Lulu Birch and Myrtle Fries; refreshment committee, Beulah Thompson, Beatrice Everett and Ethel Jenkins; committee to buy material for fair next year, Florence Van Wyck, Mildred Schoonmaker and Catherine Schoonmaker. The November meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Arthur Zimmer.

Beaver's Secret Methods

The beaver's dam is one of the natural wonders to almost every young mind, but even older minds haven't been able to discover what a beaver does to a log to keep it from floating when they get ready to build the dam. Some trappers say they paddle it in some way with their tails to make it stay at the bottom of the creek.

Value of a Dollar

There are three ways in which to find the value of a dollar; one is to find out what you have to give in order to get a dollar; the second is to spend it and see what you can get for a dollar; the third is to save it and see what you can do without and still keep the dollar.—International Connection.

KINGSTON, N. Y., OCT. 28, 1926.

Coroner Howard B. Humiston has performed the duties of that important and poorly paid office with satisfaction. The upper Roundout Valley section of the county should have a coroner. Mr. Humiston's location is geographically correct and he is personally fitted for the office. Therefore there is every reason why he should receive a large majority.

Surrogate Kaufman has for six years been right on the job in the court over which he presides. He has been at the service of lawyers and clients at all times and has made it possible to despatch court work without delay or added expense. This record entitles him to the vote of every Republican and of every Democrat not hidebound by partisan prejudice. A faithful public servant deserves the reward of re-election.

Lester L. Sagendorf is a candidate to succeed himself as County Superintendent of the Poor, having been re-nominated at the Republican county convention. He should receive every vote cast for that office and probably will. Mr. Sagendorf has continued the policy set by his recent predecessors in making the county farm a real, producing and profitable farm. This has greatly reduced taxation for the support of the poor, a fact that is appreciated by taxpayers in the towns, who have to foot the bills without any aid from the city. A good humane business management at the county poor house should be and will be continued by the election of Mr. Sagendorf.

KEEP THE JUDICIARY CLEAN.

There is no question as to which candidate for Justice of the Supreme Court should receive the votes of thoughtful and well informed voters.
Fourteen years ago Judge Hasbrouck was elected. He has filled the office to the satisfaction of all right-minded men and women. He has devoted all of his time to it and has kept the office free from partisan politics.
His decisions have been wise and impartial and have been sustained with very few exceptions by the higher courts. He is a candidate for re-election and should be re-elected if the voters are in favor of keeping partisan politics out of the courts.

Judge Hasbrouck's opponent would be an experiment at best, with nothing in his past to guarantee a similar separation of the judiciary from partisan politics. One has only to recall some of his actions as County Judge a number of years ago to realize this fact. Judge Van Etten was not a distinguished success when on the bench of the County Court and his official conduct at that time gave no basis on which he can ask for a promotion to the Supreme

THE LEGION IN FRANCE.

It is notable news that ten years after this country entered the World War there will be another expedition of uniformed Americans to France, in consequence of the American Legion's acceptance of the invitation to hold its 1927 convention in Paris.
Memories of an unforgettable comradeship were revived when, at the League's convention in Philadelphia,
Foch, President Doumergue, Premier Poincare and Aristide Briand, and Col. Yves Picot, spokesman of the French veterans, after assuring the Legion of the welcome grateful Frenchmen know how to extend,
went on to say:

In the name of the French men and the mutilated, of whom I am the big brother, I tell you on this Legion, comrades of the American Legion, the cheers that greeted you in 1917 you will hear again when you come to France. The sentiment of fraternity that bound us during the war still remains in our hearts.
Your former comrades-in-arms will receive you as brothers, for whom they are happy to open their arms.

"It will be greater than the Crusades." National Commander John R. McQuinn was quoted as saying in his responsive enthusiasm. The German officers reported as "delighted" over the revival of the old veterans of "The Four Horsemen" in New York may not be pleased when Paris jubilates in honor of the Legion, but the fraternizing American and French veterans will not be concerned about the attitude of Berlin when they parade Paris together and join in recalling the comradeship and heroism of the epoch-making period of 1917-1918.

According to an interviewer Bernard Shaw attributes his "youthful complexion" to his failure to use soap on his face during fifty years, merely "wetting it occasionally."
This was too tempting an opportunity to be neglected by the American journalist and Shaw has been promptly referred to as "the great unwashed".

That Body of Yours

HOPE IS HEALTH.

Physicians nowadays are considering this matter of treatment other than by medicine.

Their criticism of the use of non-medical treatment is that as these healers do not know the workings of the body in health, that is physiology, nor in illness, that is pathology, they can hardly expect to get real results in their treatment.

Now although this is true of course, there is one factor that must enter into this matter that we are all apt to forget. That is the encouragement the patient receives from these healers.

An Arab proverb tells us that "He who has health has hope, and he who has hope has everything."

I would like to turn this saying around and say, "He who has hope has health, and he who has health has everything."

My point is this. Suppose you have a case of longstanding illness.
The patient has tried everything and everybody. There may be some organic trouble or his illness may be more of what is called a functional condition, which can be corrected by proper methods. In either case he has lost hope and doesn't wish to exert either his mind or body on his own behalf.

It is just at this point that non-medical treatment may be of service. The healer so inspires the patient, or at least the patient is so inspired that hope arises within him, and he makes the attempt to help himself. This very effort means much to that body of his by stimulating the circulation, the digestion, the removal of wastes; in fact every tissue is helped.

Now hope is at the root of all this, and our regular physicians usually endeavor to buoy up the spirits of the patient. At times however, the seriousness of the condition is reflected in their manner, or the mildness of the condition makes them impatient with the sufferer, and harm results.
Sympathy and encouragement beget hope within the patient, and he makes the effort that alone was needed to get him back to health.

Dr. Osler saw this some years before he died, when he said that he expected to diminish the number of drugs he was then prescribing, and to use "suggestive therapeutics" instead.

SUNDAY LESS MONOTONOUS

Reader's Kingston Theatre is in receipt of a letter suggesting certain attractions and favoring Sunday movies,
as follows:

Oct. 23, 1926.
Attn. Mr. Texier.
Dear Sir:

We would very much appreciate your showing "Blood and Sand" and "The Sheik" in your coming attractions.

These are two of the late Rudolph Valentino's best pictures and we are sure the Valentino fans would like to see these two pictures featuring the famous "Rudy".

We also think Sunday movies is one of the best things Kingston can have to make these weary, winter Sunday afternoons and evenings seem less monotonous.

With best wishes for your success,
we remain,

MARLBOROUGH.

Marlborough, Oct. 28.—The four voting machines now owned by the Town of Marlborough have been put up in the four district polling places and are now ready for new or timid voters to practice upon. Town Clerk Matthew McCourt expects to have sample ballots prepared by the middle of this week to help make things clearer to the inexperienced. The four machines are situated respectively in the court room on King street, Froemel candy store on Western avenue in Marlborough, The Friends Church on the south state road, and in the court room back of the post office in Milton.

Mrs. John Splain is visiting her sister in New England.

The Marlborough stores have announced winter closing hours. Beginning on Monday the store will close at 6 o'clock every night, except Saturday. Practically all the merchants in the village have united to make the rule uniform.

Henry and Emil Kleine of Brooklyn spent the week end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. Wischoff.

Kathryn Cumiskey and grandfather, John Cumiskey, spent Sunday with relatives in New Paltz.

Mr. and Mrs. Barney Herbrick spent the week end with friends in New York city.

radio of C. S. McCourt.

Mr. and Mrs. George Fisher and Miss Liland of Montclair, N. J., were the week-end guest of Mrs. Calvin Staples, Sr.

Miss Sarah Newell spent the first part of the week with friends in Highland.

Edward McGuire of New York city spent the week end with his parents.

The Junior Class of the Marlborough High School has selected November 5, Friday, as the date for a dance. Invitations will be out this week and will serve as admittance cards plus the required fee. The dance will be held in St. Mary's Hall.

Evangelist L. C. Robie, who is conducting a series of meetings in the Methodist Church, was present Monday morning at the Marlborough High School. He brought his trombone and furnished music as well as making an address.

Bloom will conduct the devotionals, and Mrs. Andrew Keefe will give Chapter two in the Home Text Book.

Here is a Mystery

In passing through a Sahara forest it was noted that the older plants are dotted with woodpecker holes, and yet few woodpeckers are to be seen, says the Nature Magazine. Some of these holes may have been made a century ago, for this cactus protects itself from infection by forming a hard and impermeable callus around these canals.

New York History

American Army Acquired Its

Bravery in Battle of White

Plains, October 28, 1776.

General Howe had invested New York City after the battle of Long Island, but his dilatory tactics had given Washington nearly a month to reorganize his army and complete three lines of defense nearly across the island, from the Hudson to the Harlem.

Howe, reinforced by troops from Great Britain and more Germans, resolved to gain the rear of Washington's army, which he dared not attack in front. To do this he embarked a considerable force on October 12 on flat boats, and landed them at Throg's Point, Westchester County, in the evening of the 14th.

Washington was early advised of the enemy's movements, and sent General Heath to check the "invaders," and then called a council of war October 16, when it was resolved to evacuate Manhattan Island, take position on the Bronx River in Westchester, and meet the British face to face, or secure a safe retreat to the Hudson Highlands.

Washington posted a garrison of three thousand men in Fort Washington, under Colonel Robert Magaw, of Pennsylvania, and marching up the valley of the Bronx formed intrenched camps from the heights of Fordham to White Plains.
General Greene commanded a small force which garrisoned Fort Lee, on the west side of the Hudson.

Arranged in four divisions, under Generals Lee, Heath, Sullivan and Lincoln, the army concentrated at the village of White Plains.

After almost daily skirmishing in which the Americans were generally the winners, the two armies, each about thirteen thousand strong, met in battle array near White Plains on the morning of October 28.

The action, which ensued was short, sharp and creditable to the Americans, who were chiefly behind their breastworks near the village, and the British were upon the hills below. Chatterton's Hill, a commanding eminence on the opposite side of the Bronx, was occupied by Colonel Hazlet, and his Delaware regiment, some Maryland troops and militia in all about sixteen hundred men.

Early in the morning General
McDougall was ordered to reinforce Hazlet with six hundred Continent-als, eight hundred militia, and two pieces of artillery under Captain Alexander Hamilton, and to take command there.

At ten o'clock the British army moved toward the village in two columns, the right commanded by Sir Henry Clinton, the left by General DeHeister and Sir William Erskine. Howe was with the second division, and had moved with great caution since his landing.

A hurried council of war was held by these officers on horseback, when some troops, under cover of a heavy cannonade, proceeded to build a rude bridge over the Bronx. Over this British and German troops crossed and attacked the Americans on Chat-terton's Hill.

Hamilton's little battery made them recoil at first, but, being reinforced by Colonel Rall's Hessians they drove the Americans from their position, compelling McDougall to retreat to the intrenchments at White Plains. This was done in good order, and he carried off his wounded and artillery.

Washington's breastworks were composed of cornstalks covered rather hastily and lightly by earth;
but they appeared so formidable that Howe feared to attack them, but waited for reinforcements. Here the American army rested, almost undisturbed until the evening of the 30th, when Lord Percy arrived with four battalions. Howe made preparations to storm the American works the next morning.

A tempest of wind and rain arose at midnight, and continued for twenty hours. All operations were delayed. Washington perceived Howe's advantage, and on the night of the 31st, withdrew during the storm, under the cover of darkness, behind entrenchments on the hills of North Castle, toward the Croton River.

Howe was afraid to attack him
there, and on the night of November 4, retreated toward the confluence of the Hudson and Harlem Rivers, and encamped upon the heights of Fordham.

The loss to the Americans in the skirmish of October 26 and the battle of the 28th did not exceed, probably, three hundred men in killed, wounded and prisoners; that of the British was about the same.

Washington called a council of war, and it was resolved to retreat into New Jersey with the larger part of the army, leaving all the New England troops on the east side of the Hudson to defend the Highlands.
This movement was speedily executed. The main army encamped between Fort Lee and Hackensack, in New Jersey.

General Washington left General
Lee in command of a strong force at North Castle, with instructions to follow him into New Jersey if necessary, and he put General Heath in command of the Hudson Highlands.

THANKSGIVING GOBBLER

"I can't help gobbling. I can't help boasting. I can't help being proud, and I can't help strutting," said Mr. Turkey.

The barnyard animals looked at Mr. Turkey. He was quite an important looking fellow, but still he was pretty content.

He really did feel conceited. He couldn't help it, he said. But he was, he really was, pretty conceited.

"There's a good deal you can't help, isn't there?" the other barnyard animals said, winking at each other.

"You think, perhaps," said Mr. Turkey, "yes, gobbler, gobbler, gobbler, you think perhaps that I am unduly conceited. But no, listen to me. This is my story.

"In the springtime, when I was born, my mother saw that all of us children were well looked after for the first four weeks. Especially did she see that we didn't get our feet wet.

"Now, mothers are often particular that their children should not get their feet wet. They make them wear rubbers.

"There are no rubbers for turkeys, so our mothers cannot do such things.

"So they have to watch us all the time during the first four weeks. To be sure, I don't believe human children walk about when they're as young as that.

"But no matter. When they do walk about, and if they do get their feet wet, it may mean they'll have bad colds.

"But it's more important with turkeys than that. If turkeys get their feet wet before they are four weeks old, they will never grow up to be strong turkeys.

Quite an Important Looking Fellow.

"They will be sickly and wretched. So the first four weeks of a turkey's life are most important.

"But that is not why I am conceited, oh, no!

"I am strong. My mother took good care of me. But lately I have been fed more and more delicacies.

"I have not had to go looking for food myself.

"It has been brought to me, nice corn meal and such good things.

"And I've had all I could eat.

"They've wanted to fatten me up for the great day to come.

"The turkey is the great creature on Thanksgiving Day.

"Ask any one who is the favorite in school, and a dozen names may be given.

"Ask any one who is the prettiest, and a dozen names may be given.

"Ask any one who is the greatest man living, and different people may think different ones are greatest.

"But ask any one what is most important at Thanksgiving, and one and all will say:

"The Turkey!"

"I am fed for the great event.

"What matters it if, then, they turn the tables, so to speak, and eat me?

"It's the compliment, and up to the time the compliment is shown me, I enjoy myself hugely.

"Yes, the turkey is the most important thing about Thanksgiving.

"And it is a most important day, so I cannot help boasting.

"Gobble, gobble, gobble."

"There is truth in what he says," said Red Top, the Rooster. "Crown, crown, it is so."

"There is, cackle, cackle," said Mrs. White Hen.

"Certainly, cackle, cackle," said Miss Gray Hen.

"True, quack, quack," said Mrs. Duck.

"Quite true, quite true," the other animals of the barnyard agreed.

Satisfied

Doris, aged five, was sitting up in bed.

"Mamma," she asked, "what do you put pictures on the wall for?"

"For you to look at, dear," said her mother.

"All right, then," replied Doris. "You can take them down again. I've seen them."

Some Style to Dolores

Dolores complained of a sore throat and her mother called the doctor.

"It's another case of the fashionable manner going around," was the verdict.

On returning to school, Dolores proudly told the teacher: "I've had the stylish manner, but the common one."

A Non-Partisan
Judiciary

In the Third Judicial District comprising the Counties of Albany, Rensselaer, Columbia, Greene, Ulster, Schoharie and Sullivan there are seven Justices of the Supreme Court.

All of them are Republicans.

The last Democratic Justice of the Supreme Court to have been elected in this District was Judge James A. Bohn, elected in 1898.

Neither party should have a monopoly of all the Supreme Court Justices in the Third Judicial District.

THANKSGIVING GOBBLER

"I can't help gobbling, I can't help boasting, I can't help being proud, and I can't help strutting," said Mr. Turkey.

The barnyard animals looked at Mr. Turkey. He was quite an important looking fellow, but still he was pretty content.

He really did feel conceited. He couldn't help it, he said. But he was, he really was, pretty conceited.

"There's a good deal you can't help, isn't there?" the other barnyard animals said, winking at each other.

"You think, perhaps," said Mr. Turkey, "yes, gobbles, gobbles, gobbles, you think perhaps that I am unduly conceited. But no, listen to me. This is my story."

"In the springtime, when I was born, my mother saw that all of us children were well looked after for the first four weeks. Especially did she see that we didn't get our feet wet."

"Now, mothers are often particular that their children should not get their feet wet. They make them wear rubbers."

"There are no rubbers for turkeys, so our mothers cannot do such things."

"So they have to watch us all the time during the first four weeks. To be sure, I don't believe human children walk about when they're as young as that."

"But no matter. When they do walk about, and if they do get their feet wet, it may mean they'll have bad colds."

"But it's more important with turkeys than that. If turkeys get their feet wet before they are four weeks old, they will never grow up to be strong turkeys.

Quite an Important Looking Fellow.

"They will be sickly and wretched. So the first four weeks of a turkey's life are most important."

"But that is not why I am conceited, oh, no!"

"I am strong. My mother took good care of me. But lately I have been fed more and more delicacies."

"I have not had to go looking for food myself."

"It has been brought to me, nice corn meal and such good things."

"And I've had all I could eat."

"They've wanted to fatten me up for the great day to come."

"The turkey is the great creature on Thanksgiving Day."

"Ask any one who is the favorite in school, and a dozen names may be given."

"Ask any one who is the prettiest, and a dozen names may be given."

"Ask any one who is the greatest man living, and different people may think different ones are greatest."

"But ask any one what is most important at Thanksgiving, and one and all will say:

"The Turkey!"

"I am fed for the great event."

"What matters it if, then, they turn the tables, so to speak, and eat me?"

"It's the compliment, and up to the time the compliment is shown me, I enjoy myself hugely."

"Yes, the turkey is the most important thing about Thanksgiving."

"And it is a most important day, so I cannot help boasting."

"Gobbles, gobbles, gobbles."

"There is truth in what he says," said Red Top, the Rooster. "Crow, crow, it is so."

"There is, cackle, cackle," said Mrs. White Hen.

"Certainly, cackle, cackle," said Miss Gray Hen.

"True, quack, quack," said Mrs. Duck.

"Quite true, quite true," the other animals of the barnyard agreed.

Satisfied

Doris, aged five, was sitting up in bed.

"Mamma," she asked, "what do you put pictures on the wall for?"

"For you to look at, dear," said her mother.

"All right, then," replied Doris. "You can take them down again. I've seen them."

Some Style to Dolores

Dolores complained of a sore throat and her mother called the doctor.

"It's another case of the fashionable woman going around," was the verdict.

On returning to school, Dolores proudly told the teacher: "I've had the stylish manner, but the common one."

A Non-Partisan
Judiciary

In the Third Judicial District comprising the Counties of Albany, Rensselaer, Columbia, Greene, Ulster, Schoharie and Sullivan there are seven Justices of the Supreme Court.

All of them are Republicans.

The last Democratic Justice of the Supreme Court to have been elected in this District was Judge James A. Betts, elected in 1896.

FATHER to REST HIS BONES

Of course in one of our easy lounging chairs. Dad is usually very tired when he gets home at night. He may not have said anything but he certainly looks like he has an easy chair. "Gregory" makes a specialty of just that kind. If you buy one here it's going to last. Dad won't want to leave it, and the spring construction has a way of getting more and more comfortable with use. They cost from $25.00 to $75.00. Dad will never forget your thoughtfulness if you get it for him.

Davis Asks Kraft About State Taxes

In answer to a political letter written by William R. Kraft, Democratic candidate for assemblyman, which was published in The Kingston Leader, Assemblyman Millard Davis has written the following letter to the editor of the Leader:

Kerhonkson, N. Y., Oct. 28, 1926. To The Editor of The Kingston Daily Leader:

Dear Sir: My attention has been called to a letter appearing in your paper, of October 22nd, addressed to the voters of Ulster County, by William R. Kraft, and I notice in the editorial of the same paper, you state that "This is the platform on which Mr. Kraft goes before the voters, and on which he is basing his appeal for support."

His first sentence calls attention to the fact "that for the past two years the county has been without proper representation."

This seems to cover the period I have represented this county in the Assembly, and I am sorry to have disappointed Mr. Kraft. I do not know what he means by "proper representation" but I believe I am safe in saying that his county was represented on practically every roll call in the Assembly; that no issue or call was dodged by his representative being absent or not voting, and my vote on any bill might be some indication to Mr. Kraft as to how I stood and how stand on the question. And it might interest you to know that your Assemblyman was the only member of either branch of the Legislature who had every bill introduced passed by both houses of the Legislature and signed by the Governor.

This may not be "proper representation" but it is something.

Next, Mr. Kraft takes up some of the more than seven hundred questions which came before the last Legislature and states his position thereon.

Let us take a look at just one of these questions in the platform on which Mr. Kraft goes "fearlessly" before the voters.

First: He stands for economy. Next, he wants more and wider concrete roads and better town roads, and then I rather imagine he is advocating some sort of a gasoline tax, for he concludes "if such a gasoline tax were in effect in all probability the license on passenger cars would be reduced to a nominal flat sum."

If the Legislature of my legislative district, I care this matter some attention—probably not as much as Mr. Kraft has given it, but the best I could under the circumstances—and I found: That on the best authority obtainable each cent of tax on gasoline in this state would yield this year approximately eight million dollars, and the license fees this year will amount to approximately thirty million dollars.

I imagine Mr. Kraft is advocating a two-cent gas tax which will yield sixteen million dollars. Then, if the "license on passenger cars (which by big odds, are the largest number of cars) will in all probability be reduced to a nominal flat sum". This will cut out a big share of the thirty million dollars we are now collecting, and spending on the roads of the state, and will very materially lessen the state's income.

I therefore feel constrained to ask Mr. Kraft and you, too, Mr. Editor, where we are going to get the money to build these new concrete roads, and widen the old ones and build the new improved town roads which Mr. Kraft and you are advocating as a reason for his election, and still "economize" which he is also advocating.

I hope he does not expect to get it through a further state or county or local tax on real estate, which while now representing only thirty per cent of the wealth of the state, is burdened by paying seventy per cent of the tax, where then will he get it?

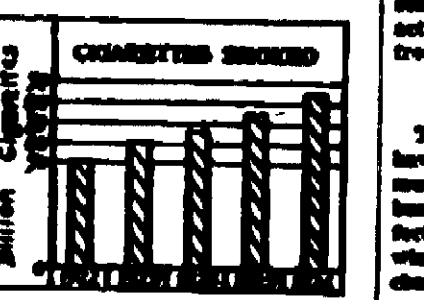

Taxes are another one of the seven hundred odd subjects he does not express his opinion on.

There, Mr. Editor, I have just touched on one subject and I fear my letter is too long already.

Yours truly, MILLARD DAVIS, Candidate for Member of Assembly.

CIGARETTES NOW NATIONAL SMOKE.

Babson Park, Mass., Oct. 28 (Special).—The truth is sometimes hard to bear, but the fact remains that the cigarette has become the national smoke. Perhaps the war did it—perhaps not—but no matter. The business of making and selling cigarettes in the United States today is proving quite an undertaking, especially now that American cigarettes are growing more popular in other countries—and among women in this country.

Back in 1922 only about 50 billion cigarettes were smoked in the United States as compared with probably about 85 billion this year. Tobacco companies have heeded the call, and are now paying much more attention to cleanliness than to either cigars or pipe tobacco. Of course, the latter have not been eliminated, by any means.

"Have a cigar?" said the man with the smiling face. "Don't mind if I do," said his friend. "But what's the occasion? Why this lavish display?"

"Oh, I've got an addition to the family," was the answer. "You don't say so? Congratulations!" said the other man enthusiastically, as he put a match to his cigar. After a few puffs he observed, "About the fifth child, I should say."

"All right, Jake," said the grocer. "If you need a sack of flour and have no money to buy it with, we'll give you a sack. But see here, Jake, there's a circus coming to town in a few days, and if I give you a sack of flour, are you sure you won't sell it and take your family to the circus?"

"Oh, no," said Jake. "I got the circus money saved up already."

House Members Seek Re-election

Almost Entire Membership of House of Representatives Ask Constituents to Send Them Back—Twenty-nine Senators Would Return.

Washington, Oct. 28 (AP).—Despite the avalanche of criticism aimed at Congress in recent years, seats in that body still are eagerly sought.

This "off-year" campaign finds nearly eleven hundred men and women seeking the 472 places to be filled in the Seventieth Congress—435 in the House and 37 in the Senate.

Almost the entire House membership—396 to be exact—is trying to stage a comeback, while 29 Senators would succeed themselves. Of the House members seeking re-election, 221 are Republicans; 179 Democrats; three Farmer-Laborers and two Socialists. Among the Senators are 22 Republican and six Democrats and one Republican who is running as an Independent.

In one state—Illinois—there are ten candidates for a single Senate seat, while the total number offering for the 37 Senate vacancies to be filled next Tuesday exceed 110.

There are 932 candidates for the House, the Democrats having nearly 400 in the field, with 64 of them unopposed, and the Republicans having 372, of which 23 are without opposition.

Besides the major parties, the Socialists have 78 offerings for the House, the Farmer-Laborers have 24; the Prohibitionists 18 and the Progressives 15.

Bishop Manning Favors Sunday Sports If They Do Not Conflict With Worship

Tells Recreation Association Play Instinct is Divinely Implanted.

ATLANTIC CITY, Oct. 20 (A. P.).—Speaking before the Thirteenth Congress of the Playground and Recreation Association here last night Bishop William T. Manning of New York outlined his creed of the gospel of play.

"Recreation has a direct bearing upon our moral and spiritual development," he said, "and so I feel that the church should give its open sanction and blessing to clean and wholesome sport."

"Some of you may not agree with me, but I hold that wholesome recreation and amateur sport may have its right and proper place on Sunday provided it does not take the place of prayer and worship on that day. The instinct for play is as divinely implanted in human nature as the instinct for work and the instinct for worship. The church must not merely tolerate clean sport and recreation, but give them its glad and open blessing."

Why Stiff Shoes for your Flexible Feet?

JUST notice how readily your bare foot bends at every joint and how freely the muscles flex and stretch in walking.

Not much stiffness there! The body couldn't live without this flexible shock-absorber.

The marvelous resilience of the three main arches of the foot enables this delicate structure to springily carry the whole weight of the body and to absorb the constant jars of walking.

In the Cantilever Shoe, the shank (or arch) is entirely of flexible leather. There is no concealed metal. It permits the foot arches to flex as Nature intends.

The flexible Cantilever allows natural exercise of the foot muscles, preventing or correcting "weak arches."

The refreshing ease of the

Cantilever Shoe

(For Men, Women and Children) is due to its being designed along anatomical lines and constructed to meet the needs of the foot. A stylish, well made shoe. These Oxfords in black and tan kid, $9.50 and $10.00. Other Cantilever Models, $9.50 to $12.50.

While the Fur-lined Coat is the Headliner of the Season, Other Fur-trimmed Cloth Models Have Merit—Cost Silhouettes Incline to Bloused Effects.

The fur-lined coat is the headliner of the season. It has all the charm of novelty and the aspect of being different. Every woman nowadays, or so it seems, has a fur coat; hence the eternal striving for something different.

Cloth coats, fur-trimmed—whether they are fur-lined or not—never lack advocates, and this season, when one's coat is so apt to be velvet, the addition of rich furs and a lovely lining, as likely as not to be kasha, makes for an elegance that even the fur coat can not exceed.

Coat silhouettes, like the dresses beneath, are inclined to soft lines and to bloused effects. Many women find such types flattering and are glad to get away from the straight-line coat.

A Coat Model with Unusual Back Treatment, the Cape Effect Resulting from a Pleated Back That Suggests a Yoke.

There are, however, straight-line coats for those who approve them. For sports wear, they are obviously the best choice, especially when some stunning novelty fabric, loudly patterned or colored, is selected.

There are few restrictions governing the placement of fur, except that straight bands are generally avoided. If one prefers to border one's coat with fur, it seems smarter to break the border in some way, rather than have it continue around the entire width of the coat.

Sleeves have taken on fullness and are usually the most interesting detail of the coat. Many have the wide Vionnet armhole, or are cut on exaggerated raglan lines. Sleeves are rarely narrow. The cuffs also add a fashionable finish, and patch pockets of fur are another feature deserving consideration.

Chic New Models for Schoolgirls

Sport Frocks and Wraps, Specially Designed, Are Varied in Style.

A few models have the gored or flaring skirt. One especially chic model is a sports dress designed by Vionnet for a tall girl of the fashionable boyish figure. It is made of chartruese jersey, the bodice joined with stitching at a low waistline. A novel detail is the deep-pointed yoke-shaped inset on the bodice, beginning under the arm and extending almost to the waist in front. A small, close, turnover collar with soft cravat tie and pockets and cuffs are worn with this frock, and hat of the vagabond shape has an unusually high crown, rippling brim and band of grograin ribbon, all in the same shade of chartruese.

Several of the most prominent Paris couturiers, says a fashion correspondent in the New York Times, are designing with much success clothes for misses and young girls. Pequin has done some uncommonly nice things in coats, using the soft woollens in shades of brown and green and making much of side flares and plaittings. A lovely coat done for a ten-year-old girl is in sage green velours de laine with bands stitched on the front from the shoulder to the bottom of the garment, each overlapping a strip of narrow tucking. Madeleine des Gayus, Callot Soeurs, Molyneux, Lanvin and Cheruit are among the French designers who, with others prominent in America, are establishing new and attractive styles for girls and young women, using a wide variety of materials and colors.

But it is the girl of the "awkward age" whose clothes present the real problem, and they must be selected with great care. There is in this the consideration of the wearer's own taste and feeling as well as the desire to be in the mode, all of which is greatly simplified by the large assortment of designs and materials. From these, both American and French, it is possible, with judgment and even a moderate investment, to fit the type of any very young lady whose individual preference in these matters early begins to develop. In these most of the new points in women's dress are reflected. Sleeves for the daytime are both long and short. For evening they are either very short or altogether ignored. The plain slightly bloused bodice and the bolero in different forms are equally good. Tiered skirts are arranged in either flat bands or flounces, and a few among the new skirts in models for misses are shirred all around the waist or in sections to form flaring panels.

A new detail is that of combining two materials, or the same material, in contrasting colors—joined in sections between the top and bottom of the dress. The blouse is nearly all of the late models is seldom trimmed, but many of the skirts are ruffled or overlaid with petals of the material or ribbon loops. Fringed tulle or ruche in rows on the skirt of a frock of gewogette, with one row on the sleeves, is a happy treatment for an afternoon frock for a girl of fifteen. The apron front is shown on some of the new models, plaited borders are good and most of the dresses of the simple fabrics are belted in some way.

Shaposhnik Costs Late Vogue From a black sheep to late black when his skin is turned into a suede coat. The newest examples of such garments arrived from England have as many colors as Joseph's coat. They are modeled in both bright and subdued effects, not the least of their attractiveness lies in the fact that these colors are guaranteed not to run. These coats are knee length, lined with satin and are wind and weather-proof.

Me Know

Here are some definitions turned in by a little boy that are worthy the attention of the dictionary makers: "The hen is the bird that lays your breakfast. A cow is the can you get milk from when the grocery store is closed."

The KITCHEN CABINET

(A 1926, Western Newspaper Union.) What this old world chimney needs is some Sunday religion on week days and some company manners in the boom of the family.

CHILDREN'S LUNCH BOXES

Packing a school lunch box five days a week for thirty weeks or more on a stretch is powerful constant and monotonous. Of course children to do good work must be well nourished and when possible it is best to give them a warm dinner at night. For the outdoor worker and the office woman the lunch must vary in quantity and somewhat in quality, but there are general directions which will apply to all lunch packing.

There is no one who is so blind to the niceties of life that he does not appreciate a well-prepared and packed lunch, though it be nothing but a sandwich. Throwing together a mass of food, totally unrelated, mixing flavors and making a messy, unsightly appearance would disturb the digestion of an ostrich.

The daily sandwich is almost a necessity, though at times scoop out a roll or two and fill with a salad, not too moist, which will make a most palatable dish. Personal tastes must always be taken into account when preparing a lunch basket.

The one who likes a hot or cold drink can carry it in a thermos bottle. For those who are fond of fresh ripe tomatoes a most appetizing sandwich may be prepared. Place a slice of tomato, a thin slice of cheese, with a little salad dressing between slices of buttered bread. Two of these with two of some other variety, with a cup cake and an apple or other fruit will make a good lunch with a glass of milk.

In many of our country schools where domestic science is taught the children prepare one hot dish at noon. This helps out the mother with her lunch packing. Two sandwiches of bread and butter with jam or jelly and two of chopped ham and a glass of apple salad, a piece of ginger bread and a cup of hot cocoa is another good day's luncheon. A handful of nuts, a few dates, a piece of candy, a fresh apple, pear or banana will always delight the child.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

Cakes, puddings and pastry lighter and more tasty

Use this delicious Table Delicacy to improve your cooking skill

CAKES, puddings, and pastries, can be lighter and fluffier than ever before. Vegetables can be flavorful. Gravies and sauces can be richer—and yet economical. There is a new ingredient for healthful cooking and baking.

First Prize Nut Margarine has long been used on a million tables as a valued delicacy—a delicious spread for bread. Now it is recognized also as a wonderful cooking and shortening ingredient, giving skill and satisfaction in the culinary arts.

Made from the pure, nutritious kernels of coconuts, peanuts, and pasteurized milk, salted to taste, it is light and wholesome, easily digestible and rich in vitamins.

First Prize raises healthful cooking to a plane you never thought possible, never turns brown in the pan, and does not burn easily. It is not soaked up by the food, so that your food is never too rich. Melted over vegetables it provides a delicious sauce. Mixed into gravies and soups it makes them thick, digestible, nourishing. Cakes and pastries have new appetizing, crumbly lightness, and keep fresh longer! It restores the original flavor to left-over vegetables.

Moreover, First Prize is economical. Get a pound today. It comes only in sanitary cartons.

ECKERSON'S First Prize NUT MARGARINE

A delicious spread for bread

As a spread for bread, rolls, toast, waffles, sandwiches, First Prize is delicious. Mix it, if you like, to mellow yellow with the little vegetable coloring capsule in each package. But First Prize flavor is as delicate and delicious, either way.

50 years of experience in careful milling makes Mother's Oats noticeably finer

No wonder this oatmeal tastes so good! No wonder it cooks up so smoothly, always the same!

50 years of experience have taught the careful millers of Mother's Oats how to select the cream of all the oat crop; how to mill it fine and clean and even; how to preserve all the values of the whole grain.

You will notice the difference at once.

Mother's are realizing more and more that normal growth in early childhood depends largely on the right growth foods being given plentifully.

So rich is Mother's Oats with milk in tissue-building protein, as well as minerals and vitamins now known to be necessary for growth—that it is one of the most wholesome and nourishing breakfasts for growing children.

The Office of SURROGATE

The Strong Candidacy of WILLIAM A. KAERCHER

If elected, Mr. Kaercher, the Democratic candidate for the office of Surrogate of Ulster County, will be the first member of that party elected to the office since 1892. Mr. Kaercher was the unanimous choice of his party for this nomination. After graduation from High School, he attended the New York Law School for one year where he took prize of $50.00 for second highest standing. This school being closed by the war which took most of its older students, Mr. Kaercher then pursued his studies at the Brooklyn Law School from which he graduated. His family having moved to the town of Wawarsing he assisted his father in farming for three years, and then became associated with Judge Jenkins, Corporation Counsel of Kingston. In this office he has been frequently brought in contact with the various boards and officials of the city. Here his strict honesty, sound judgment and marked legal ability have been noted and commented upon. These officials and Judge Jenkins all say his ability and capacity is undoubted. While a young man, he is as old as was Judge Parker when he was first elected to this same office. He is just the type of man who can be trusted to oversee the administration of the estates of the dead. As to his home life, Mr. Kaercher lives with his mother, sister and brothers in this city where the family moved after the death of his father. Mr. Kaercher has a very pleasing personality and makes friends of all with whom he comes in contact. If elected he will fill the office with honor to himself and the satisfaction of the people.

Y's Men's Club Banana Contest

The Y's Men's Club welcomed back into their midst Tuesday evening at their regular meeting at the Y. M. C. A. Charles Shults who returned from his honeymoon in time to attend the meeting.

The dinner was considerably delayed through the "insistence" of Lou Whitney, the club's genial treasurer, helping serve.

"Pop" Hinds had charge of the entertainment and put on a banana eating contest in which all the members took part. As the members were blindfolded it was impossible to tell who won so it was decided to call it a tie. The attendance prize was won by George Hendrickson.

The next regular meeting will be next Tuesday evening at 6:15 o'clock and President "Jim" Scott is anxious to have a 100 per cent attendance.

GIRL GAINED 7 POUNDS NINE YEARS AN INVALID

This is just what McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets did for the Rhode Island girl—and is doing as much for tens of thousands of thin, underweight weak and discouraged people all over America.

These sugar coated, pleasant to take, tablets should be given to children just out of the illness, supporting oil itself, they surely do help the frail, delicate little ones and 60 tablets cost but 60 cents at any drugstore.

Read this letter if you have a child that needs to gain health and strength:

"My little girl was stricken with infantile paralysis when she was five months old and was an invalid for nine years when I saw an ad in the paper that McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets would build up wasted tissues. I bought a box and she gained very slowly at first and after taking eight boxes, she gained seven pounds. Thanks to McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets, after trying almost everything else on the market, she is on the road to recovery and goes to school every day."

Second Lecture On the Drama

The second of the series of lectures on Modern English and American Literature which are being given by members of the Vassar College faculty under the patronage of the Monday and Atharhaeton Clubs, was held at the chapel of the First Reformed Church on Wednesday afternoon.

Miss Winifred Smith, professor of English, was again the speaker and continued her subject on the Drama, after giving a resume of last week's lecture. She told of the small group of modern dramatists who have revolted against Shaw and the larger group that count him "The father of all of us." The plays of today were noted as being more complicated than those of Barrie and even Galsworthy. A change came to pass in the drama after the World War, faith in all things seeming to have been lost by some of the playwrights.

Some little time was devoted to modern German writers of expressionism, although the lecture subject did not go outside of England and America. Mention was also made of Russian dramatists. Miss Smith spoke of C. K. Monro of England and his drama "Progress," which in a recurrent pattern is an ironic picture of the great war. Miss Smith also devoted some little time to the youthful American dramatist, Eugene O'Neill.

The subject of next week's lecture will be "The Younger English Poets" and the lecturer will be Edward Davidson, associate professor of English at Vassar College.

Beginning of Gullies

Gullies may be filled in and reclaimed by building soil-saving dams across them. These may be made of a variety of materials, including stakes, brush, straw, logs, loose rock or woven wire, while permanent dams may be constructed of earth, masonry or concrete. The beginning of bad gullies is often traceable to some such practice as dragging a plow or driving a wagon across a sloping field when the ground is wet.

Mammoth Ivory Carving

A statuette of a woman carved from ivory from the tusk of a mammoth has been found in diluvial strata on the Danube near Vienna. It is the largest of the kind yet discovered, and is assumed to date from the second and last glacial period of Central Europe, that is, about 25,000 years ago.

Word of English Origin

The name "Vessey" is a local name, meaning "wet or fenny" land near water. The original word was "Vesey" and was Cornish-British. The name may be pronounced with a long or short "e."

Business Girls' Club Supper

The Business Girls' Club held a business session at the supper Wednesday evening at the Y. W. C. A. Miss Harriet Misner, secretary, read her report for October, and Miss Ethel Salzman gave the treasurer's report. Announcements concerning future events were given by Miss Alma Tyler. A jolly time was had in playing a get-acquainted game, "Who's Who," each girl at the supper being required to give her name distinctly enough so that every one present could readily understand it. The consolation prize went to Miss Alice McLaughlin, head of Table 2, while the first prize went to Miss Jessie Rebecca Goodsell of the first table. A humorous reading in Irish dialect was given by Miss Lucinda Merritt, and in response to the enthusiastic applause Miss Merritt gave "Little Orphan Annie," as particularly appropriate to the Halloween season. It was announced that there would be no supper next Wednesday evening, but instead a Fashion Show at 8 o'clock. All women and girls are invited and there will be a nominal admission charged.

Keep Faith in Legends

Remnants of many old legends remain in England folk lore. In Cumberland the country people once believed there would be no winter if the cuckoo could be persuaded to stay there all the year. The same myth occurs in Cornwall; and, in Oxfordshire the cuckoo pens on the Chiltern hills were obviously built with the object of staying the cuckoo's departure.

NEW PALTZ

New Paltz, Oct. 28.—A regular meeting of Huguenot Grange was held at Grange Hall on Saturday evening. Sixty members of Bullville Grange were present and furnished a very amusing and entertaining program as follows: Overture, Miss Anderson and Mr. Earle; recitation, "Katie Lee and Willie Gray," by Mrs. Edmund Youngs; floggie, Mrs. Ayers; reading, "Wanted, a Minister's Wife," play, "A Minister's Wife," by eight ladies, solo, John Bell, Miss Anderson at the piano. There were also speeches by the master of Bullville Grange and others. At the close of the program refreshments consisting of sandwiches, coffee, ice cream, pie and cutlets were served by the men of Huguenot Grange with Lester Harvey as chairman, after which came dancing with music by the Normal School orchestra.

A number of New Paltz people visited Kingston on Saturday night.

The Martin family of Copper Main street has several rose bushes that were sent to them from the old country. They say the Spanish roses are much more fragrant than roses here.

Apple growers in this vicinity have a very unusual crop of fine fruit this fall. Much of this is being stored. John Keller is filling his cooler with apples from his own orchards and those of surrounding farms. He has purchased the entire crop from the Arbuckle Farms, Philip H. Dulbor and son will have a crop of about 10,000 barrels.

The Lake Mohonk House closed on October 13. The week of October 10 was marked by a meeting of the Board of Indian Commissioners, one of whose members is the Hon. Daniel Smiley. Last year it became necessary for the members to be in the West. That was the only time a meeting has been missed since the board was established, forty-three years ago. Guests at Mohonk have been subscribing for a radio outfit for the Forest Ranger in Sky Top Memorial tower. From early April to November 1 for much of the day he is alone in the tower.

Mrs. C. Mathiesen and daughter-in-law, Mrs. George Mathiesen, were recent visitors in New York city.

Cooper's First Book

In 1820 Fenimore Cooper published his first novel, "Precaution." It purported to be written by an Englishman and was a story of English society and in an entirely different vein from any of his succeeding books. In 1821 he published "The Spy."

Famous Picture Gone From Mexican Church

Great mystery is attached to the strange disappearance from the wall of the parish church of Tezcuiztlan, the historic village situated on the shore of Lake Patzcuaro, Mexico, of the celebrated painting, "The Descent From the Cross." This painting is regarded in art circles as being perhaps one of the most remarkable and valuable masterpieces on the American continent, due to the well-established fact that it came from the brush of Titian, who was the royal patron of Philip II, king of Spain. This celebrated painting is said to have been selected by Philip II from his collection of 40 Titians and presented to Bishop Quiroga, who brought it to this far-off possession of Spain and placed it in the parish church of the proud Tarascan. At that remote time the Tarascan empire just had fallen and the town of Tezcuiztlan, which was its capital, was the foremost metropolis in that part of the country.

All through the centuries since then the Tarascan guarded the painting day and night. For long periods the church was closed to the curious eyes of visitors, and many legends sprang up concerning the wonderful painting that maintained its marvelous beauty and color despite age and exposure of time.

When the officers of the federal government went to the village a few days ago to make an inventory of the church property, they found that the painting had been removed from the wall. The devout and loyal worshippers shrugged their shoulders and pretended to have no knowledge of what had become of the treasure. The parish priest also professed profound ignorance as to its whereabouts. It is the popular belief that the painting was removed by order of the church authorities and secreted for the time being to prevent it from falling into the hands of the government. Time after time art collectors have sought to buy the painting. It is stated that one famous American art lover offered $200,000 for the painting, but the parish, poor as it is, refused to accept that big sum.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Oct. 28 (AP)—Stock prices registered further recovery today on buying for both accounts presumably influenced by recent favorable earnings and dividend announcements. The demand embraced practically all groups, with the revival of activity and strength in the oil shares as one of the few features.

Energetic bear selling was confined to a few motors and specialties whose earnings prospects are regarded as none too favorable by the speculative community. Hudson broke below 42 to another new 1926 low, and weakness cropped out in some of the department, amusement and chain store shares.

With freight traffic breaking all records and no car shortage in sight, the rails attracted both an investment and speculative following. Pittsburgh and West Virginia ran up 1/2 points before the end of the third hour and Atlantic Coast Line 2.

Pan-American and General Asphalt issues were the early leaders in the oil group with buying based on the splendid character of current earnings statements. Dupont (new stock), making its first appearance on the exchange, was quickly run up three points, with a gain of nearly twice that size in the old stock. Continental Banking A sold at least four points higher and Commercial Solvents B. Case Threshing and National Enameling moved up three points or so.

Wadsworth and Mills in Kingston

Ogden L. Mills, the Republican candidate for governor, and James W. Wadsworth, Jr., the Republican candidate for United States senator, will address the big Republican mass meeting to be held Saturday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at the Auditorium theatre on Pine Grove avenue.

The mass meeting here Saturday will wind up the upstate campaign for both men, who will close their campaign by addressing a monster mass meeting in New York city Saturday night.

Those who have been following with interest the campaign made by Mr. Mills and Mr. Wadsworth and who have heard them over the radio will be given this opportunity of seeing and hearing them in person at the mass meeting Saturday afternoon.

It is expected that many interested voters from Ulster county will spend the afternoon in Kingston Saturday and attend the rally.

Odds and Ends

The Ladies' Auxiliary of Union Hose will hold their regular meeting tonight. All members are requested to attend. Arrangements for its coming dance will be made.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Epworth League of the Clinton Avenue M. E. Church it was unanimously voted that the members of the Epworth League go on record as opposing Sunday movies.

The monthly meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society of the First Reformed Church will be held in the chapel on Friday, October 29, at 3 o'clock. A paper on "Mostly Women—Theory and Practice" will be given by Mrs. U. Scott Smith. All ladies invited.

MANY VISITORS TO MARK TWAIN'S CAVE

Magic of Humorist's Name Still Powerful.

The magic of the name Mark Twain has made a gold mine of one of the limestone caves that honeycomb the Mississippi bluffs. Because of that name the traveler without a car in Hannibal, Mo., dickered with the town taxi for the trip to the caves, two miles down the river bank and thence through the woods over a bumpy road. Parking space at the journey's end is full of tourists' cars and the registry is filled with signatures from every state.

Before Mark Twain's day tourists came to the cave; but since the cave has borne his name its visitors have greatly multiplied. Last year 7,000 persons registered there, a record that, according to present indications, will be broken this year, writes a correspondent of the New York Times.

Hannibal is becoming more and more "Mark Twain's home town." Strolling from the station, the visitor follows the broad Main street, pungent now and then with the mingled odors of kerosene, soap and leather from some country store. Hannibal is a sizable town with clifftop shops, but it has many of the old landmarks of Mark Twain's time.

Not many moments pass ere the stranger is convinced that the humorist has found honor in his own country. The hotel is named "Mark Twain." In front on the sidewalk men sit in rocking chairs of a Sunday afternoon, watching the world go by. Signs advertising Mark Twain this and that are everywhere seen; and presently one glimpses Mark Twain's river.

A worn wooden signboard at the corner of a dilapidated alley points to "Mark Twain's spring." It is within a court of negro shanties, from one of which some one will surely call out offering a glass. Then on one goes, up a steep street and past a boxlike little house, set close to the sidewalk and bearing a United States flag. A marker announces that in this humble cottage Mark Twain dwelt as a boy. Around the corner at the end of Main street is the bronze group of Tom Sawyer and Huck Finn, and up the hill in a park overlooking the river is the statue of their creator.

Further on a poster says: "Don't Miss Mark Twain's Cave." The suggestion is enough. It is not easy to get there, but once arrived, the visitor is rewarded. He may shiver in its depths on a hot summer day and perhaps see spooks. No civilized cave is this, with steps and ladders and electric lights. Except for a reinforced entrance and a door, the place is much as Tom Sawyer's gang left it.

One picks up a kerosene lantern and follows the leader along a damp path between dark, damp walls. Squeezing through "Fat Man's Millery," one slips hastily under "Hanging rock" and peeps at "Aladdin's Palace," "the Cathedral" and the "Drawing room." The guide, who is called "Squirrel," points out the hole where Jesse James and his brother concealed themselves for two weeks and adds that an Indian was hanged on the "hellish boot." His ghost is said to reappear there every day—"Squirrel" names the hour at which the visitor is passing through.

Sexes Divide Honors

At last you'll have to admit that your wife can work faster than you can. Likewise, she must agree that your judgment is better than hers—in the long run.

Such conclusions, at least, are substantiated by a series of tests given to 542 women and 542 men, all college students, under the direction of the psychological laboratory of Johns Hopkins university.

It was found, reports Popular Science Monthly, that in the task of substituting letters for symbols the women, on the average, could do more in a given time than the men. The latter, however, were more accurate in judging in advance the amount of work they could do in the time allotted.

Alleged Assailant Killed in Flight

New York, Oct. 28 (AP)—An unidentified man was shot and killed by a detective early today while fleeing from the scene of an assault by five men upon a woman.

Mrs. Edith Barber was on her way to a subway station at 96th street and Lexington avenue when the men attacked her, dragging her into a doorway. The neighborhood was under heavy police guard because of reports that "Bum" Rodgers, wanted in connection with several murders, was expected in the vicinity. Mrs. Barber's screams brought prompt response from a squad patrolling in an automobile. They found her lying in the doorway.

Detective Joseph McAllister saw a man run from an adjacent doorway. The detective fired when the man refused to halt. Mrs. Barber said the man was one of her assailants.

Society Notes

Silver Wedding Anniversary.
 New Paltz, Oct. 28.—On Friday evening of last week occurred one of the most pleasant social functions of the year, the occasion being the twenty-fifth wedding anniversary of the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Fred DuBois. Maiseholder's orchestra of Kingston furnished music for dancing. The affair was held in Grange Hall which was prettily decorated with autumn leaves and flowers. At midnight an intermission in the dancing gave opportunity to enjoy delicious home-made refreshments. Before leaving in the small hours of the morning the many guests present voiced again their congratulations and bespoke continued happiness to their host and hostess.

Just what is an Unusually Narrow Heel?

It is not, as one would naturally assume, a thin, bony projection without the usual fleshy covering. On the contrary it may be well fleshed.

In shoe parlance, a heel is "narrow" when the distance from the crown of the instep to the back of the heel is less than the "average", or—

—when the space between the ball of the foot and the back of the heel is shorter than the "average".

You don't need a tape measure to see if you have a narrow heel. Just consider: does the average shoe grip your heel firmly, or does it work up and down, wearing out your nerves, as well as your hosiery.

If it slips, you need a pair of "Arch Firmers" with a heel measure several sizes smaller than the body of the shoe.

We have them. Try on a pair.

SECOND BOY OF FAMILY
HIT BY WALLKILL TRAIN

John Berhanda, 17, emulated his brother when he drove a dairy truck against a Wallkill Valley train at Phinney's Crossing, near Walden, Tuesday. John was only slightly injured, but the truck was wrecked. Two years ago on the same crossing, John's brother, driving the family truck, mounted the cowcatcher of a Wallkill Valley locomotive and rode with the engine 3,000 feet before the train was stopped. The youth received no serious hurts.

Celtics Outclass
Kingston Here in Opening Contest

Kingston-Paterson Quintet Falls Before the Original Celtics at Army Court—Celtics Played Brilliant Defensive Game.

The Original Celtics produced another reason why they should be styled the World's Champions, Wednesday evening before a packed armory, for after forty minutes of battle they defeated the Kingston-Paterson quintet in the local's opening game of the National League by the score of 29 to 21.

With the Kingstons pressing the Celtic hard in the opening stages of the contest, the New Yorkers lengthened their strides in the closing minutes of the first session and ended the period by a score of 17 to 11. But Kingston came back hard again in the second half, venturing dangerously close as they strayed within three points of the Celtics. The New Yorkers then played as champions should play when threatened and produced another spurt that gave them a eight point lead when the final whistle sounded.

The Celtics played an unusual defensive game for only three times during the forty minutes was a Kingston man able to drop a double through the loops. Benny Borgman twice broke away from the champs while Harvey came through with the remaining field. The Celtics had six fields from the floor.

Game Forty Minutes Late.

The game was held up forty minutes due to the late arrival of part of the Celtic outfit. After the hour of starting had rolled by and no Celtic squad appeared on the court, "Chuck" Soder, referee, announced that the game was late in getting under way owing to a breakdown of part of the Celtic forces at Highland.

Lopchick, the lanky Celtic center, was the first man to sink the ball for a double. The game had been under way for about five minutes and the champs were attempting long drives from the center of the playground with no success. Lopchick tore beneath the basket after one of these shots sent the leather between the loops. Three or four minutes later Benny Borgman started the house cheering wildly with a well-directed shot from the middle of the court for Kingston's initial field.

With both clubs sprinkling a long path of singles in their wake and neither club gaining a decided advantage, the Celtics started a drive for a decisive finish of this period. Dehnert sank two spectacular shots only two minutes apart and then Holman dropped in another double with only a minute to go, giving the champions a six point lead for the period.

Celtics Nearly Overtaken.

Beckman sank a double for the champions at the start of the second period for his first and only double of the game. Without about ten or twelve minutes to play, Borgman and Harvey each drove doubles through the rings, starting the Kingstons on a drive which nearly overhauled the champs. After Beckman sank a single, Artus and Husta came through with singles which put the Colonial outfit but three markers in the rear of the Metropolitan outfit. It appeared as if the locals might be able to fight their way to the front with this short distance separating them from the champs. But Holman put a double through the irons and with three singles for the New Yorkers that followed, the battle was lost for Kingston.

Broadcasted Over WDBZ.

The affair took on the air of a World's Series with Joe Beichert announcing the battle over station WDBZ. Fans who were unable to attend the contest were kept informed as to the progress of the conflict. Joe stood in the side entrance to the armory, facing Hoffman street, where he had a good glimpse of the game. He started about eight-fifteen relating the preliminary aspects of the affair.

Sport Briefs
Of All Sorts

(By The Associated Press.)

The "slugging stone cutter" and the "walloping woodchopper" probably will have an opportunity to test which wields the more powerful blow. Harry Persson, the tattooed stonemason from Sweden, is awaiting the arrival of Paolino Ucedun, the Spanish woodchopper, and Tex Rickard hopes to stage a bout between the rival European heavyweights at Madison Square Garden in December.

Scouting goes on apace despite the big three football agreement and in fact scouts are even beginning to scout scouts. At the Washington and Jefferson-Fordham game last week, a La Fayette advance agent penned copious notes on the President's play. Seated just behind him and copying over his shoulder everything he wrote was A. W. and J. J. The Presidents know every thing they are supposed to display in the big game Saturday.

Walk Miller, manager of Tiger Flowers, champion of the middleweights, announced that he has offered "Pa" Strifling $100,000 for the right to control the management of Young Strifling, Atlanta lightweight. Walk is leaving for Atlanta Saturday to discuss the deal with the Strifling family. Final arrangements for the middleweight champion battle between Flowers and Mickey Walker in Chicago December 3, will be completed in New York before he leaves, Walker says.

GREAT DEMAND FOR ARMY-NAVY TICKETS

West Point, N. Y., Oct. 28.—Major W. A. Cophorne, Graduate Manager of Athletics at the Military Academy, gave out the following announcement today in connection with tickets for the Army-Navy game at Chicago:

Applications for Army-Navy football tickets received by the Army Athletic Association from their members on the closing date for applications, exceed, by approximately 5,000 tickets the greatest number of applications ever previously received.

As a consequence of this excessive demand, it is necessary both that the applications of a great many members be reduced and that all applications received since the closing date be returned unfiled.

The tickets allotted to cadets have been in great demand by their relatives and friends in the vicinity of Chicago. There is not a single ticket available at West Point and there will be none available between now and the time of the game.

The mailing of tickets for the Army-Navy game, and of the tickets for members of the Army Athletic Association for the Notre Dame game, will begin on Monday, November 1st.

As tickets are sent by registered mail, they will go to the applicants only as fast as the Post Office facilities at West Point can handle them. It is anticipated that all Army-Navy football tickets will be in the hands of members by November 15th or very soon thereafter.

BASKETBALL JAMBOREE AT Y. M. C. A. NOVEMBER 5

The Basketball Jamboree Committee have decided to stage the "Big Battle" on Monday evening, November 5, instead of November 4, as previously planned.

The Monday and Thursday senior class at the Y. M. C. A. made up mostly of Jamboree enthusiasts, and who take particular delight in the Mexican basket ball rules which prevail, are training for the big contest, November 5.

Among those who will take part are Lou Kantrowitz, Ben Flea, Jimmy Winter, Joe Dietz, Fred Swift, and Andy Murphy. Just a suggestion for more men to come and practice.

Classification of Nails

The term "penny" as applied to nails, denotes a certain arbitrary size. The expression originated in the 16th century, at that time denoting the price of nails per hundred.

Elevens Working
On Air Attack

New York, Oct. 28 (AP).—Piskins that pass overhead are coming in for much attention this week on the chalked battlegrounds of the east.

A tight-lipped Navy band, remembering the 54 to 0 slaughter at the hands of Michigan last year, is living in a world of flying footballs that travel in both directions.

These incoming, mostly from the hands of "Benny Friedman," are ticketed for the arms of "Benny Osterbaan." Then Hamilton stands far back and tosses a flood of passes in developing an attack to rival Michigan's famous Benny-Benny combination.

More life is needed in the Yale attack and rugged scrimmage is testing every man of promise to find the spark that will turn the fiftieth attack into a raging power against Army. Bill Kline has left the Yale backfield because of family illness. Army is tossing hosts of forwards in practice, burrowing their smashing line attack, and hoping that from somewhere will come a kicker.

Harvard and Princeton, of the big three, can experiment with overhead work this week, having little fear of Tufts and Swarthmore, respectively. The Crimson power is on the rise, Princeton is searching for the wrench in the machinery that looked so promising at the season's start, and their big clash is only a week and a half away. But the ineligible beat the Harvard varsity 14 to 13 yesterday, using Princeton plays while Princeton drilled on Harvard passes. There is no scouting agreement there.

A cripple Dartmouth varsity, more so now that Dooley's famous passing hand is too swollen for action, is watching subs drill for Brown, which gained new strength with the return of Hodge, a powerful tackle. Dooley seems definitely lost to the Green for the Saturday engagement.

Pennsylvania plans more than a hidden ball attack. The Red and Blue spent the last practice before leaving for Urbana working on an air attack. Charley Rogers, star of the coast, is still ill at home, but will make the trip.

Turkey Dinner at Trinity.

The ladies of Trinity M. E. Church will serve a turkey dinner, with all the trimmings, at their annual Friday evening, October 29, from 5 o'clock until all are served. The fancy table will have many pretty articles on sale, also the candy booth will have plenty of home made candy for all.

Park Has Indian Name

"Kaibab," the name of one of the national forests, is a Pute Indian word meaning "mountain lying down." It is a vast plateau, 80 miles long and 35 miles wide. It contains 900 square miles of yellow pine, fir, spruce and aspen. This is said to be the largest virgin forest in the United States.
